

K-12 Smart Solutions

Improved safety. Greater peace of mind.

We know schools struggle to stretch their dollars while still providing the best possible life-safety protection.

Administrators and facility managers must keep a careful eye on their budgets while finding innovative, value-added strategies to create a safe environment for students, staff and visitors.

Our philosophy is a simple one: provide K-12 schools with the highest quality equipment and services at the lowest possible total cost of ownership over the lifecycle of the solution. Whether you're a large public school looking for comprehensive packaged solutions, a private school requiring a broad product set, or a smaller facility seeking specific systems at specific price points, we can help. Our K-12 smart solutions portfolio of fire, security and emergency communications products can be packaged and scaled to meet your needs, schedule and budget, from standalone retrofits to complete integrated life-safety environments.

Outstanding scalability means the right fit for you

Our interoperable systems and services are scalable, ready to meet any size budget or mission.

Our built-in forward migration helps you make the most of your investment and grow at your own pace. You can quickly and cost-efficiently retrofit existing systems with Tyco Integrated Fire &

Security upgrades; expand with added capabilities as your budget allows; or use our network-based fire platform to integrate a comprehensive life-safety environment from day one.

We help you keep it simple with one-stop shopping

Everything you need for your K-12 facility is available under one roof, from fire suppression to integrated security, emergency communications, sound, and master time systems.

A complete K-12 fire and life-safety solution

Fire detection and alarm: Our Simplex® fire detection and alarm systems are well known for their quality, reliability, and code-driven survivability. They make an excellent platform for a total integrated solution combining fire, security, sound and emergency communications.

Fire sprinkler and suppression: Frederick Grinnell patented the first automatic sprinkler in 1881 — and we've never stopped improving it. That's why organizations turn to us for correct, code-compliant and cost-effective sprinkler solutions.

We're today's recognized leader in the installation, inspection, and maintenance of fire sprinkler and suppression systems. You'll benefit from the latest in sprinkler technology and code-compliance support. In addition, our experience in working with building officials and local fire authorities can help with timely approvals and permitting.

Integrated security: In a world where K-12 schools can face multiple threats, you may not want to rely on a single product set to safeguard your buildings or campus.

We can bring a multi-tiered, multi-technology approach with a range of solutions to meet a variety of threats. Our integrated solutions include security management (access control and intrusion detection), video surveillance, and integration with your other life-safety systems for superior protection

Emergency communications: The ability to alert and direct your students and staff in the event of an emergency is critical.

Our emergency communications include voice-enabled fire systems that can warn of fire conditions, episodes of violence, severe weather and other emergencies. Text-message subscription services, text display boards, outdoor speaker systems, and other state-of-the-art notification systems can be integrated in a single network-based solution.

Time and sound systems: We've been providing time and sound systems to schools nationwide since Simplex was founded as a time clock company back in 1894.

We can help you select the right public address/intercom or paging system for maximum clarity and usability; help you plan and install an effective, intelligible, and flexible sound reinforcement system; design an advanced multimedia system; and help you manage time more effectively with master time solutions.
